Q: Ipad split view without two

UISplitViewController's on the storyboard I want to split my viewController into two parts as shown in the diagram and after I edit the content of the data for the first splitview controller and save it it will update the second view controller and the view in the first picture there is the viewController and the subviewController the second picture is my attempt at it but i want to avoid having two split view controllers is there a way to do this using just one UISplitViewController A: You will want to handle this in the prepare(for segue method of the view controller. - (void)prepareForSegue:(UIStoryboardSegue *)segue sender:(id)sender { if ([segue.identifier isEqualToString:@"StoryboardSegueName"]) { UINavigationController *navigationController = segue.destinationViewController; if ([navigationController isKindOfClass:[YourClassName class]]) { YourClassName *vc = (YourClassName *)navigationContr oller.topViewController;

vc.youPropA = yourPropA;
vc.youPropB = yourPropB; } } }

This will allow you to essentially reuse view controller, but update the properties to fit your needs, so you don't have to create a separate view controller. The [segue.destinationViewController] will return the destination view controller, so you can check what kind of view controller it is. It's been a long time since I've posted any blogs about my life, but this morning's fire rescue update is long overdue... Friday morning, I went to the Urgent Care because I still had an ear problem a few days after my last dentist visit. It was ongoing and I was having a lot of trouble
